

Healthy Early Years – Congratulations!

Dear Michelle and all of the team,

I am so pleased to be able to let you know that Nanny Jane's Nursery is recognised as an Islington Healthy Early Years setting; this also means that you have the Healthy Early Years London bronze award. The award lasts for three years – July 21st 2029. I hope you will share this news with your families and all staff. We will include your success at the early years forum and in the health and wellbeing newsletter; it is also recorded on the Nanny Jane's entry of the Islington directory.

Quality assurance

Your audit clearly showed the difference you are making and demonstrated that you have all the standards in place and have shown the impact of your work on children and families' health and wellbeing which included:

- Clear commitment to consistent reflection of working practice, to ensure best outcomes for children and families.
- Good understanding of the wider community, including how children's centres support families.
- Good knowledge and use of, support services in Islington

Further interesting and excellent examples of best practice included:

Meeting the needs of a range of children:

- A good example of how the setting identified a child with a need, sought the expertise of the Speech and Language Therapy team and together supported the child effectively.
- Lovely example of supporting a child working with both the physiotherapist and the parent.
- Good range of strategies, information and use of external stadd to support children with differing speech and language needs and development.

Contribution to children's wellbeing:

- It is excellent that the setting utilises local parks to support the children's physical development
- Good support for children and families, encouraging good oral health and hygiene.
- Good strategies, ideas and activities to support healthy eating and nutrition.
- Lovely examples of supporting children's interests

Leadership and management:

- The setting demonstrates a good understanding of the Incredible Years Programme.
- It is excellent the Manager and Senco visited New River Green Children's Centre and learnt about so many services which their families would be able to access.
- Staff are well supported and listened to, in a variety of formal and informal ways.

I have attached your Islington and HEYL certificate and Healthy Early Years Bronze logo, which you can use. I have approved your bronze award on the Healthy Early Years London website.

Healthy Early Years London silver and gold standard case studies: these recognise settings work to address particular health needs within their setting community, for example emotional well-being, oral health or healthy eating. To be recognised for a focussed case study at silver level, one case study is required. To be recognised for a focussed case study at gold level, one case study is required, together with some stretch criteria questions.

If you are interested in undertaking a silver or gold standard, focus case study, please do contact <jane.schofield@islington.gov.uk> who can support you with this.

We look forward to continuing to work with you supporting health and wellbeing in with your children and families and remain funded by Public Health to work with schools and settings.

Congratulations again

With every best wish

Jane
